M. C. Escher: The Graphic Work
by M. C. Escher

M.C. Escher is one of the world's most famous graphic artists and a favorite of my husband, Phil, who is an artist and a teacher. Escher is known for his so-called impossible structures such as Ascending and Descending, Relativity and his Metamorphosis series. He played with architecture, perspective and impossible spaces.

ABC's OF RELOADING: The Definitive Guide For Novice to Expert
by Bill Chevalier

My husband was my inspiration for choosing this book for our collection. I think it will be beneficial to him and others interested in this subject.

The Most Glorious Crown: The Story Of America's Triple Crown Thoroughbreds From Sir Barton To Affirmed by Marvin Drager

The Sport of Kings is among the oldest sporting events in America, and without doubt the most prestigious title in thoroughbred racing is to be known as a Triple Crown Winner. This book tells readers something about the wonder horses that have managed to win those three grueling races in a five-week time period, including the magnificent Secretariat; Citation; Seattle Slew; and Affirmed, the most recent winner. This book will appeal to both those starting to learn about horse racing and those who know more about the sport.

Résumés for Re-Entering the Job Market
by the Editors of McGraw-Hill

After reentering the work field after retirement, I felt this book would be very helpful.

The Busy, Busy World of Richard Scarry (Biography)
by Walter Retan and Ole Risom

My children's first Richard Scarry book was the wonderful Cars and Trucks and Things That Go. His books are full of busy, colorful fun and action and my children would look at the illustrations for hours. For the enjoyment they received and the fun we shared with these books, I would recommend any of the Richard Scarry books to all children. They will learn that the everyday world is a place they can understand and that learning is fun. To have his biography in our collection would be a great asset to our library.
