The Boy Mechanic: 200 Classic Things to Build
by Popular Mechanics

I believe that all boys should learn to work with their hands, at least in some fashion. It is a part of them becoming good men.

JESUS LOVES ME: Celebrating the Profound Truths of a Simple Hymn
by Calvin Miller

A great number of us remember as little kids in Sunday School or Bible School singing "Jesus Loves Me".

Dr. Miller has written this book expanding the thoughts and promises included in this little ditty, plus the additional verses we almost never sing.

We are privileged to include Calvin and Barbara Miller as personal friends as well as our Pastor for several years at Westside Church which he began in Omaha, Nebraska.

Calvin is not only a pastor, seminary professor and author, but also an accomplished artist. We are proud to have received with each Christmas greeting a print of one of his paintings.

Fifth Avenue, 5 A.M.: Audrey Hepburn, Breakfast at Tiffany's and the Dawn of the Modern Woman
by Sam Wasson

Using the story of the making of the movie "Breakfast at Tiffany's" as the narrative backdrop, author Sam Wasson explores a myriad of people and events.

Truman Capote, Audrey Hepburn, Henry Mancini, George Peppard, Blake Edwards, Patricia Neale, Edith Head, and many more make appearances in this interesting tale of a movie neither ahead of its time nor behind, but which in fact, perfectly captured the dramatic shifts occurring in the world, and especially in the lives of women. Written in an accessible and breezy style, the book surprised me with its intelligent insight into the changing dynamics of life as a woman in the late 1950's and early 1960's. It was a fun and also informative read, tapping into my love of Audrey Hepburn, New York City, gorgeous clothes, and feminist history, all at the same time. And that's no small feat.
