Spring Book Sale April 15, 16, and 17

By the Book Sleuths

MARK YOUR CALENDAR NOW!!!! Our annual Spring Book Sale will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday during National Library Week, April 11-17, at the Boone County Library. Thanks to the generous donations of library patrons we will again have an outstanding selection of books in many categories. A large selection of fiction, some in large print, will be individually priced from $2.00 to $6.00. An exceptional selection of books on the Civil War was recently donated and will be included. For the home lover there are books for the cook, the gardener and the handyman. Below are a few of the special titles:

Cherokees of the Ozarks – Billy R. Hilton

How to Talk to Birds – Richard C. Davids

Ginseng and Other Medicinal Plants – A. R. Harding

Flowering Trees and Shrubs in Color – Stark and Link

Turkey Who Came to Dinner – Scholastic (children)

Cast Iron Cookbook – Eds. Vi Nutley & Carole Carter

The High Ozarks: A Vision of Eden – Neil Compton (signed)

Complete Book of Rifles and Shotguns – Jack O'Connor

500 Full-size Patchwork Patterns - Maggie Malone

And the Bargain Room will have an abundance of selections for just $1.00 each in all categories.

Thank you to those who donated the books that make these sales possible. We will be calling for volunteers to work at the book sale. All proceeds from the sale are to benefit the Boone County Library.
