

Ginger Schoenenberger

Weight Watchers Make It in Minutes: Easy Recipes in 15, 20 & 30 Minutes

In my recent journey into exercise and the world of weight loss, I have realized that healthy foods can sometimes be a challenge to prepare quickly. Working full time also increases that challenge. Knowing that many others may be in my shoes, I believe this book is not just good for me, but the general population as well.

Karen Obertik

Sewing Clothes Kids Love
by Nancy Langdon

When my two older daughters were small, I used to spend many enjoyable hours sewing and creating homemade fashions for them. I was never satisfied with just purchasing clothing straight off the store racks. Being a young child is such a special time. Therefore, his or her clothing should be special. I think that this book will help any mom to get started in the world of creating unique kids' clothes.

Sherri Smith

Get It Together for College: A Planner to Help You Get Organized and Get In!

By The College Board

This planner will take students from searching for colleges to a final checklist of what to pack for their dorm. It provides calendars, checklists, worksheets, and tips to help students navigate through the college phase of their lives.

Chris Rose

Voyager's Grand Tour: To the Outer Planets and Beyond

by Henry C. Dethloff and Ronald Schorn

For the past 33 years, I have been awed by the discoveries made by the twin Voyager space probes. The data provided by their flybys of Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune (plus many moons orbiting those worlds) have vastly enriched our knowledge of our solar system. Voyager I is now the most distant man-made object and will remain so, unless someday overtaken by faster space vehicles. Both craft continue to send back data on their way out of our solar system.