

SPRING BOOK SALE REVIEW – ONE OF THE BEST!

Mary Wright and Shirley Copeland
Book Sales Committee

It has been said that "it takes a village" and we certainly feel that way after our most successful Spring Book Sale ever. The books which were donated during the winter were in such good shape. After the library staff selected those which could be used to enhance their collections, we had many hundreds of pristine books to price individually. Hundreds more were priced for the Bargain Room.

Thanks to the Book Sleuths who spend Mondays sorting and pricing books and serve as a "committee" for organizing and managing each of our sales. And then there is George Cline and his crew of volunteers who help to set up tables and prepare the rooms while others are moving the books from our storage area to the library

We cannot forget the volunteers who unpacked and arranged some 85 boxes of individually priced books in the atrium area and 189 boxes in the Bargain Room. Many hands make light work and this group worked efficiently and tirelessly for over four hours.

But we must publicize; here, thanks goes to the various organizations and businesses which helped advertise, to the Editor of the Bookplate and those who fold it in preparation for mailing before a sale. We are so glad to have a community that cares about our library and supports it with many hours of volunteer work.

Finally, Sale Day arrives and as eager buyers gather at the door, volunteers are ready to greet customers, to hand out bags as they gather books, to carry books and bags to the cashiers and to help in so many ways to keep things running smoothly.

We are grateful to all of you who come to buy books. We do need you! And thanks to the library staff for their assistance and support throughout the year.

The total income from this year's sale was $5331.05. A list of names of volunteers follows. There were sixty-seven volunteers who worked 246 hours. We hope we have all of your names; it is not intentional should we have overlooked someone. Please feel free to let us know. We couldn't have done it without each and every one of you.

And again remember that book donations are always welcome. Friends of the Library needs all of us working together for continued success.
