Children's Book Sale

by Sally Robinson

Join a safari in Africa. Sail the high seas on a voyage to exotic lands. Fall into a rabbit hole and have tea with a queen. All of these and more are available in the children's section of the Boone County library. The possibilities are as endless as the imagination of a child. Benjamin Franklin once said, "Take what you have in your pocket and put it in your head, and no man can take it from you."

Kids Waiting for Doors to Open at Previous Book Sale

On June 5, Friends of the library will give children a chance to own and hold close some of that knowledge at the annual children's book sale. Hundreds of children's books, some gently used and some like new, will be available for purchase for the low price of fifty cents for hard cover and twenty cents for soft cover. See the wonder and excitement in the children's eyes as they browse the many selections.

We always encourage library membership, especially for our younger citizens. As an even better buy, the books will be available at half price for those children with a library card and for children under six whose parent presents a card. Library cards may be obtained at the library prior to or on the day of the sale at the check out counter.

Friends of the Library use the proceeds from the sale of books to supplement and enhance those services provided by the Boone County Library, so we encourage you to donate your used books so we may continue this good work.
