NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK

By Ginger Collins, Library Circulation and Programs

National Library Week is April 16th - 21st this year and we are well underway with the plans. The popcorn has been ordered, the Pepsi products have been generously donated by Larry Coffman of Pepsi-Cola, the balloons are ready to be inflated (thanks to the crew at Lena Frances Flowers & Gifts) and Marilyn Wallis, general manager of KHOZ, has offered LOTS of air time to promote the week-long event. The Cat in the Hat has scheduled a stop for Tuesday the 17th during Story Hour and the Poster and Essay Contest has been officially launched. Materials and guidelines can be obtained at the front desk. The awards reception for the contest is just one of the highlights of National Library Week.

Speaking of highlights, the Friends of the Library Spring Book Sale is a hands down favorite. Thousands of great books to choose from with the majority priced at $1.50 or 3/$3.00. You will find others individually priced at 1/2 the fair market value. The sale starts Thursday, April 19th and ends Saturday at 3pm. Thursday from 9-1pm is for members only. See page three and four for more information about the sale. Come early for the best selection!
